The day belonged to Randy Nash as he quietly built up a score that was out of reach of the other shooters on his way to claiming the PCGC club championship title for 2007. As we looked around, the depth of this accomplishment is realized when we began counting the number of Texas and Louisiana champions were present. You just don't cripple into winning this match, you must have you're "A" game on and Randy was up to the task.

As we come to the close of this year's schedule, let me thank each of you that shot with us this year and ask that you come back again next year. Our goal is to provide a well run match and an enjoyable day at the range. I hope we have succeeded.

We'll be looking for you on the firing line.

Rick Crawford
